Australia's Wine List of the Year 2020
Judges Review

"A brilliant list. Occasionally, when a wine list has this much information in it, it can feel a chore to read through it. Not so in this case: the wine list at Public Dining Room has been written by sommelier Luke Collard, and it is overwhelmingly evident how much Luke cares about wine.

It is not only entertaining, but incredibly engaging & informative, & really helps to guide us through the selection. In fact, Luke does such a good job of making everything sound enticing that it makes the job of choosing a wine even more difficult.

This is a list that freely explores regions & producers, touching on exciting wine styles, putting others in context, & leaving you in a much better place than when you started. The collection of wines, cocktails, spirits, beers & every other variant of beverage feels deliberately curated rather than simply 'listed' & it is certain that Public Dining Room has something for every palate. Like the view, a total pleasure to absorb."

“Perfect.
Parfait.
Perfetto.”

We want your glass of wine to be in perfect condition, just as the winemaker intended.

To do this we employ a variety of technological tricks:
vacuum pumps for table wines,
carbon dioxide pressure seal system for sparkling,
and the amazing Corovin™ system for our premium offerings
All because oxygen is the enemy!

So if your glass of wine is not perfect
let us know and we'll put it right!

“New South Wales is not the premier state of wine lists”

We have a poor record in this state when it comes to backing our own wines. NSW is a distant fourth in terms of the percentage of local wines on our own wine lists, behind South Australia, Victoria and Western Australia.

So c'mon people of NSW!

We back ourselves against the rest of the nation in every sport, plus property prices, harbours, and even pandemic handling!
So get behind our wines too.

To make it easier for you, here is a list of every wine from NSW that we list.

After all, anywhere else is “just camping out”!

“What would you drink?”

I stand behind every wine on this list.
They've all earned their place.

But although you're not supposed to have a favourite child -
I just can't help singling out some of my babies for special mention!

This is an unapologetically personal selection, made as a response to one of the most common questions I get asked:

“What would you drink?”

Here's your answer...

SPARKLING

2016 de beaurepaire 'marie louise' pinot-chardonnay, rylstone, nsw 135 in terms of australian sparkling wine, tasmania gets all the plaudits. but the ultra-cool regions of nsw can more than hold their own with tassie. this beautiful classic method sparkler from the de beaurepaire family of high-altitude rylstone, in the hills above mudgee, sets a new standard for our state. there's some rich pinot fruit, with cool climate acid from the chardonnay. a healthy dose of brioche from some time on yeast lees adds complexity. this is classy stuff!

WHITE

2017 foreau 'clos naudin' vouvray, loire valley, france 165 for some reason, chenin blanc is almost completely ignored by australian winemakers. we love all the other french varieties that our british founders left us with - but chenin was ignored. This wine from the home of chenin - the loire - has rapier-like acidity, with generous pineapple fruit, and lanolin richness on the palate.

2019 domaine du gros 'noré mourvèdre-grenache-cinsault, bandol 130 the south of france has elevated rosé to an art form, producing dry, aromatic rosés with a characteristic "onion skin" colour. In particular bandol, a tiny appellation near toulon on the provençal coast, is the region for gold standard rosés. This has dried herb, rose hips, and cherries on the nose, with plenty of palate weight to match the classic cuisine of this beautiful region - especially bouillabasse!

RED

2017 picardy 'tête de cuvée', pinot noir, pemberton, wa 149
picardy is a well established winery in the pemberton region of western australia, just to the south of margaret river. it's run by the pannell family, pioneering founders of moss wood back in 1969. 'tete de cuvée' means 'best of the vintage' and stems from their love of premier and grand cru burgundy. savoury, complex and old world in style, this is always amongst the top pinot noirs from wa

2016 antiyal 'pura fe', carmenère, maipo valley, chile 105
a long forgotten bordeaux variety used mostly in blends, carmenère was virtually wiped out in france in the early 20th century, but was rediscovered in chile in the early 1990s. originally thought to be merlot, it is now grown and made under its own name. the antiyal 'pura fe' expresses intense purity of fruit with great concentration, and is both organic and biodynamic

“Champagne
is from Champagne”

Everything else is a sparkling wine.
Sorry to be so pedantic, but that’s how it is.

Which is not to say that sparkling wines aren’t as good:
you only have to taste the quality coming out of Tasmania these days...

It’s just that Champagne is unique,
not just because of grape varieties, climate or method of production, but because of all three of those things - combined with their famous chalky soil.

That’s terroir in a nutshell!

“Always the bridesmaid”

You gotta feel sorry for Riesling.

Unquestionably one of the greatest white grapes,
capable of every style from bone dry and steely,
to luscious and honeyed.

Yet it's never been fashionable - in fact, it's a bit nerdy.

Maybe it has an identity crisis?

Is it dry? Or is it sweet? Or somewhere in between...

Is it floral? Mineral? Petrolly? All of the above?

And the German ones are always a bit sweet, right? (No!)

Our style guide will help you with the dry-or-sweet thing, and I'm always more than happy to talk flowers and petrol.

“Generation blanc”

Marlborough Sauvignon Blanc is the wine that took over the world.

Love it or hate it, “Savvie” is here to stay.
Made and drunk by Hollywood stars, it’s certainly a unique style of wine, about as different from Sancerre and Pouilly-Fumé as you can get and still be the same grape variety.

For many drinkers this is their first taste of wine, and that ain’t a bad thing.

But Marlborough is not the only fruit.
France, Italy and Australia all have great examples here,
and there’s always Semillon
Australia’s elegant, longer lasting antidote to Kiwi Sauvignon

“Fifty Shades of Gris”

Q: Gris or Grigio, what’s the difference?

A: About two or three weeks.

As grapes ripen, they gain sugar and lose acidity.

The Italians, with their warmer climate, get worried about losing acid so they pick on the early side, giving wines of freshness, with lemon and green apple flavours, and maybe a hint of white peach.

This is grigio .

In Alsace, with its cooler but sunny climate, they like to wait a little longer.

There’s still enough acidity to frame the wine, but there’s richer, riper nectarine and yellow peach fruit.

This is gris .

In the New World we generally follow the two European styles, depending on the local climate.

Australia does both well, whereas the Kiwis are more gris specialists.

“Outside the comfort zone”

This is where it gets windswept and interesting.

Here’s a collection of all the “other” white varieties,
the weird and wonderful from all over the world.

Some, like Garganega, are masquerading under far more familiar regional names.
(I’m looking at you, Soave).

Some are a long way from home.
Grüner Veltliner and Furmint are two that spring to mind.

And some are enthusiastic immigrants to Australia.
Fiano and Vermentino are two Italians well suited to our hot, dry climate.

“Why hast thou forsaken me?”

What happened to Chardonnay?

Twenty years ago “Chardie” was synonymous with white wine.
Then the fall from grace.

First Sauv Blanc, then Pinot Grigio chipped away at the foundations.

Eventually, admitting to liking chardonnay was like being into easy listening or wearing safari suits.

It was our own fault.

In trying to mimic the classic white burgundies,
we made over-ripe, over-oaked golden monsters that no one wanted to drink.

Thankfully, the last ten years have seen a renaissance,
as our winemakers have sought out cooler climates and learnt a deft touch with the barrel.

And now, Australian chardonnays are the best they’ve ever been.

“Pinky blinders”

The rosé boom shows no sign of ending.

In the South of France,
specifically the Côtes de Provence and its sub-regions,
rosé is a way of life.

The classic wine of pale onion-skin bronze, with rose hips and strawberries on the nose, is dry and food friendly.
And you can drink it with (almost) anything.

Australia was a slow starter in this style.
For years, we made huge, 15-volt, bright pink monsters that were OK at a barbecue - but not for much else.

Thankfully, we got with the programme, and now make classic rosé to rival the best of them.

“Pinotphilia”

It should be a medically recognised condition.

Pinot Noir’s seductive, silky, sensuous mouthfeel has inspired addiction all over the world. We love it!

I’m a big fan, and in assembling this collection I wanted to showcase the best that Australia can produce, while also providing some highlights from the rest of the world.

From the subtle elegance of Tasmania, through the mid-weight Mornington, across the Tasman to Martinborough and - of course - Central Otago, source of many a “Pinot for Shiraz drinkers”.

I reckon it’s the only red to drink with seafood...

“Whaddaya mean, nothing under 100 bucks?”

Sorry, but there ain't no such thing as cheap red Burgundy.

You can blame supply and demand - the former tiny, the latter massive.

You can blame greedy growers and negociants -
- but hey they've gotta feed their mortgages like the rest of us, and good vineyard land is not cheap in Burgundy.

And yes, there are many disappointing wines from lazy growers quite content to trade off their famous appellations controlée .

Luckily for you,
I've filtered out the wheat from the chaff (you're welcome), and here present a list of young and not-so-young Burgundies.

And actually there are - if you look closely - a couple of decent wines under a hundred bucks...

And there’s no such thing as ‘Italian’ food either.

Italy is a nation of strong regions.

It’s only been a unified country since 1860, and some bits weren’t added until after World War II.

Its citizens identify with their region first, and are proud of the gastronomic specialities that their region is famous for.

They also have over 800 wine varieties in commercial production...

So there is no Italian wine...

but there is Tuscan wine, Piedmontese wine, Sardinian wine, and so on.

The region is king.

And residents of those different regions will argue over who has the best football team, who has the best looking girls, who has the best pasta, and who has the best wines - until the bottles are empty and it’s time to go home.

“Problem Child”

Now listen Merlot!

Why can't you be more like your big brother Cabernet?

He's managed to take over the world's vineyards, gaining respect from both winemakers and drinkers in lots of different climates.

Sure he likes gravel, but he can make do with other soils.
But you, oh no, you have to have clay with some limestone.

You became a joke in America after that stupid film, in Chile they don't know if you're Carmeñere or not, and Australia
- well, they don't take you seriously Down Under, do they?

What's that? “Margaret River” you say. Fair point... and yeah, I'll give you St. Emilion and Pomerol too.

But you can do so much better, Merlot.

“Bad Reputation”

We have an embarrassment of riches in Australia, in the form of Shiraz and Cabernet.
So it's no surprise that Grenache gets such a bad press.

Great Grenache means old vines,
and Australia has the oldest Grenache vines in the world.
When the French want vine material to replant,
they come to McLaren Vale and Barossa, where gnarly, 160 year old veteran vines are still producing tiny quantities of incredibly good grapes.

Whether on its own, or blended with partners in crime Shiraz and Mataro,
Australian Grenache is amazing stuff.
It loves heat and sandy soils, both of which we have in spades,
and as long as you keep the yields down,
it'll reward you with rich, complex, and long-lived wines.

The rehabilitation starts here!

“Let’s call the whole thing off”

You say “Shiraz”, I say “Syrah”. Same thing, right?

Not quite.

It’s a little like the whole gris/grigio thing,
where climate and winemaker’s interpretation both play a part.

Shiraz is almost exclusively used in Australia,
while the rest of the world calls it Syrah.

Like doona and duvet.

Shiraz is big, rich and ripe from hot climates such as the Barossa and McLaren Vale.

Classic Syrah is from the northern Rhône Valley in France, and is more peppery and savoury,
but still with plenty of tannin and black fruit.

Both styles are made in Australia, California and South Africa, with more Syrah styles made in South America and elsewhere in Europe.

“A good and most particular taste”

An aristocrat of wine grapes, widely planted all over the world, and producing wines at every price point.

Capable of great ageing, or young simple and fruity styles.

Coonawarra and Margaret River are two areas of renown
for Cabernet in Australia,
but the Hunter and Yarra can also hold their heads up high.

Mount Mary has established itself
as the best Bordeaux-style producer east of the Nullarbor, but WA is certainly no slouch.

With a maritime climate fairly similar to Bordeaux itself, Margaret River is where we get closest to the elegance of the classed growths.

And the quote at top of page?
Samuel Pepys, in his diary,
the morning after first tasting Ch. Haut Brion.

“The Mosman Cocktail”

The scene:

Public Dining Room, Wednesday lunch, a few years ago...

"Would you like something to drink Madam?"

I asked the mature Mosman matron
as I showed her to a window table.

"Why yes, I'll have a Mosman cocktail please"

What the hell is a Mosman cocktail?

"I'm sorry Madam" I replied,
"I've been in this business a long time, but I'm afraid I don't know what a Mosman cocktail is"

"It's a gin and tonic of course!" she said
- as if I was particularly stupid.

So, henceforth shall it be known.
The world's greatest mixed drink has a new name:
"The Mosman Cocktail"
